

Dr. Emma Gardner

Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO), Rome, Italy

Dr. Emma Gardner is a veterinary epidemiologist at the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO) based at their headquarters in Rome, Italy. She specializes in One Health and emerging infectious diseases and is responsible for coordinating the MERS-CoV project in Egypt, Ethiopia, Jordan, and Kenya since 2016. Prior to joining FAO, Emma worked in private veterinary practice treating both pets and food production animals. Emma holds a Doctor of Veterinary Medicine from the University of Guelph in Canada, an MSc in Conservation Medicine from Tufts University in the USA, and a PhD in Epidemiology from the University of Guelph in Canada.